Will Spend Couple of Weeks Fishing Along East Coast

(The Associated Press.)
ABOARD HARDING'S TRAIN.
Jan. 21—President-elect Warren G. Harding is today speeding to Florida, where he expects to remain until just before his inauguration.

After a fishing trip of a couple of weeks along the East Coast on Senator Joseph S. Frolinghuysen's yacht, "Victoria", he will take up his residence in a St. Augustine hotel early in February to remain until his departure for Washington.

The president-elect today enjoyed the first real opportunity to relax from the duties crowding upon him since his return from Panama. When he reaches St. Augustine he expects to play 18 holes of golf before boarding Senator Frolinghuysen's yacht Saturday night.

WARREN G. HARDING

This photograph of President-elect Harding, taken on the eve of his start for a vacation in Florida, shows how busy weeks of conferences on policy and cabinet posts at Marion, O., have deepened the lines in his face. Harding confesses he is tired.

The itinerary of the Harding party is through Chattanooga, and the train will arrive in Atlanta tonight, and Jacksonville tomorrow morning, reaching his destination at St. Augustine long before noon tomorrow.

The Harding home in Marion has been leased to Mildred Hunt of Marion.

The yacht "Victoria", with President-elect Harding and party aboard, is expected to tie up at the Halifax River Yacht Club docks late Sunday and will remain there until Tuesday, while the party enjoys a few rounds of golf on local courses, and attends the second performance of "The Patriot of Mount Vernon" at the Auditorium Monday evening.

The president-elect and party will live aboard the yacht while here, it is understood. Mr. Harding paying a visit to Mrs. A. H. Kling, stepmother of Mrs. Harding, who resides in this city. Mrs. Harding is expected to join the party when it returns to St. Augustine after a leisurely cruise to Miami and return, and may come down later to visit Mrs. Kling, before the president-elect and party return to Washington for the inauguration, March 4th.

INVESTIGATING AN ATTEMPT TO HOLD UP DETROIT TRAIN

(The Associated Press.)

A number of rails were found on the track at Lawton, where the train was due at 1:45 this morning. Officers assert there was a money shipment on the train.

FORGET SOMETHING?

MAYBE IT'S THAT DOLLAR YOU LEFT IN BANK.

(Newspaper Enterprise Association.)
ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 20.—Got any money you've forgotten about? Don't laugh! Put on your thinking cap. There are 25,000 forgotten bank accounts in the state of New York!

Some of them amount to as much as $6000, though most of them are small accounts.

Some of them have been in bank for more than 50 years.

A dollar in a savings account should be itself in 17 years. In 50 years a dollar in a savings account would amount to $5.

If you deposited $10 fifty years ago, you'd better look it up. You'd have enough to pay your income tax.

But, if you want to leave it there a hundred years, your heirs can buy a luncheon.

New York has taken the place of London as the world's rubber market.

The most usual symptom of color-blindness is a variety between blue and green.

NO BACK AT ALL IN THESE GOWNS

(International News Service.)
PARIS, Jan. 17.—Strange doublets designs are being employed in the latest Paris dresses, which are extremely low-cut.

In one the only clothing above the waist at the back is an enormous bow fixed in the hollow of the back, above which the body is entirely undraped.

Yet another original back covering is a filmy close-fitting network of black lace with two panels in it on the shoulder blades, through which openings the white shoulders are revealed.

TWO MUCH TOO MUCH

CONGRESS MAY DIVORCE TAXATION AND PROHIBITION JOBS.

(Newspaper Enterprise Association.)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Collecting four billions of taxes from four millions of people is only half the job that Congress expects the collector of internal revenue to do.

The other half is to enforce prohibition.

The man who inherits the job under the Republicans will have the blessing and prayers of his two Democratic predecessors.

Daniel G. Roper, collector when prohibition was enacted, protested in vain against doubling the job. "Too much" proved too much. Roper resigned.

W. M. Williams, the present commissioner, will hang on to the ropes till March 4, but will be glad to let go. Too much is at least plenty, he is convinced.

In view of Roper's and Williams' experience, Congress is expected to take remedial action.

Experience has shown that prohibition enforcement cannot be accomplished by passive measures. Men who will march up and report their sources of illicit booze.

Prohibition enforcement may be turned over to the department of justice.

All the rope of the British navy can be identified by the strand of colored thread running through it.

JASPER, Ala., Jan. 21.—Mike Pallane, an Italian miner, who claims to have witnessed the death of William Baird, the union miner lynched January 13, was brought here today for examination by the grand jury investigating the miner's death. Pallane, according to detectives, declared he also witnessed the Alabama guardsmen drawing numbers from a hat to determine who would shoot Baird. Indications today were that the grand jury had about completed its work and would adjourn late today. The trial of nine guardsmen indicted for Baird's death probably will start at Marion next week, the state and defense having practically agreed on a change of venue to that point. The defense, however, will continue objecting to an early trial declaring it should have more time in which to prepare the case.

PRESIDENT-GENERAL D. A. R. ADDRESSES THE LOCAL CHAPTER

Mrs. George Maynard Minor, of Watford, Conn., president general of the National organization of the D. A. R., and Mrs. John L. Buel of Litchfield, Conn., regent of that state organization are in the Triple Cities today to attend a special meeting of the Daytona chapter at the Palmetto clubhouse. They will also attend the pageant, the "Patriot of Mt. Vernon," at the Auditorium this evening.

At the afternoon meeting Mrs. Minor spoke of the aims of the great organization of which she is the head and its accomplishment in the past. To a representative of the D. A. R., Mrs. Minor said that the great work of the past for this historical organization had been the preservation of records of historical places. This work she said had now been very well taken care of and the present great work and the work of future years would be that of Americanization. Under the leadership of Mrs. Minor the daughters are undertaking three new projects.

First the publication of a book of information for the immigrant, the purpose of which will be to teach him to become a good American citizen. This will require the expenditure of $25,000 and Mrs. Minor will have the matter in charge.

Second, the raising of $25,000 for the erection of a memorial fountain at Plymouth, Mass., in honor of the Pilgrim women. Mrs. Minor is chairman of the committee having this in charge.

Third, the furnishing of a picture of a convoy of American troops to be presented to the permanent war museum in Paris. The painting will be about 5x4 feet and will be made by one of the best marine artists that it will be possible to secure for the service.

Mrs. Minor and Mrs. Buel have been in Miami attending a D. A. R. meeting. From here they will go to Jacksonville, to Macon and Atlanta and other cities of the south to attend similar meetings after which Mrs. Minor will return to Washington.

AMERICANIZATION

To Americans Americanization is making Americans out of immigrants.
But Americanization now is of wider meaning. The whole world is trying to Americanize itself. Especially is this true of Great Britain. Why?

J. Ellis Barker, author of "The Great Problems of British Statesmanship," makes plain this need for world Americanization if the world wishes to keep anywhere near the pace America is setting. In a more recent book, "Economic Statesmanship," Barker points to this highly interesting, and pleasing—to Americans —fact:

"American workers employed in the manufacturing industries produced per head before the war about three times as much as their British colleagues engaged in the identical callings, largely because they employed per thousand men three times as much engine power.

"American labor engaged in mining, in agriculture, and in transport also is approximately three times as efficient as is British labor.

"It follows that the United Kingdom can treble its wealth and income by Americanizing its industries.

"In 1790 Great Britain was about 15 times as rich as were the United States. Now the United States are more than twice as rich as is the United Kingdom."

It Great Britain thus clearly sees her need for frequent and large doses of Americanization how much greater is the same need in other countries?

WHAT IT MEANS TO YOU

There is, as you know a new world organization in existence. It is a League of Nations. Every American should study the possibilities the league may have, and the purposes with which it is endowed. It is not solely a matter for politicians, nor yet for diplomats, nor statesmen alone. It is a thing that concerns every human being on earth. This means you. It means everybody.

Why you, and everybody else, should seek to understand this new organization, is nowhere better set forth than in a little book Arthur Sweetser has just placed in circulation. Americans above all should become intimately and thoroughly acquainted with the league. Sweetser writes, because:

"We will measure our tax bill in terms of world armaments; we will have peace as the world has peace;
we will have prosperity as the world is able to take our ten billions dollars of foreign trade; we will redeem our Liberty Bonds as Europe repays us the ten billions she owes us."

THE KITCHEN MARATHON

The average housewife walks two miles a day while she is preparing meals for her family. The Conference of Vocational Workers of the south, in Montgomery, Ala., became interested in home labor-saving discussions. A pedometer was attached to a student in a model kitchen, breakfast, lunch and dinner were prepared. Two miles over the stove, sink, pantry, table route!

She walks 14 miles a week, 728
miles a year.

Add to that the miles she travels sweeping, dusting, answering door bells, the telephone, and the other few thousand of household duties and one estimates that mother crosses the continent each year without crossing the threshold.

The answer is, of course, step-saving. Non-used rooms, kitchens too large, or poorly arranged, will have to go. The efficient housewife will cut out unnecessary steps. This will not be done so much to avoid walking two, or even five miles a day, for health experts insist that five miles a day spells health. The hike, though, should be outdoors, not in the kitchen.
That's the newer idea; fewer steps indoors; more outside.

YOUNG PEOPLE OF TODAY

A man was released a few days ago who spent a quarter of a century in Charlestown State Prison.

He had heard and read of outside changes during his imprisonment. But that was not like seeing for himself.
He comes back to life as a modern Rip Van Winkle.

That gives his observations a peculiar interest. Particularly his observation of young people. For the young have been the object of much criticism for their freedom of manner, disregard for advice of elders, and for many other changes for which they are compared unfavorably to the young people of 1895.

But that is not the way they appear to the new Rip Van Winkle.

He was amused by the short skirts worn by girls, and he said they appeared "sa-ti-ta-o-i-n-e-t-a-o-n-n-n" peared "As if on stilts."

But he added:
"Young people today appear to be much more intelligent. They've got a go-ahead look that only one in a hundred used to have."

A GOOD WAY TO LOOK AT IT

"Ease begets sloth," writes a noted economist, who continues: "Hard times beget energy and intelligent exertion."

Prosperity begets ease.
It is, therefore, not worth while to worry about "hard times." If they should come—

They beget energy and intelligent exertion!

Not a bad way to look at it.
Necessity is as much the mother of invention today as she was when the pre-human climbed down out of the trees and began rustling for food on the plains.

Can't some undergraduate figure

lege?

months and months.

FAMILY HEADS GET
$2,000 EXEMPTION
UNDER INCOME TAX

Single persons though required to file a return if their net income for 1920 was $1,000 or more, are, if they are the heads of families, granted a special exemption under the revenue laws. Such a person is defined by treasury regulations as "a person who actually supports and maintains in one household one or more individuals who are closely connected with him by blood relationship, relationship by marriage or by adoption and whose right to exercise family control and provide for these dependent individuals is based upon some moral or legal obligation." Such persons are allowed the exemption of $2,000 granted a married person. In addition, they are allowed a credit of $200 for each dependent under 18 years of age or incapable of self-support because mentally or physically defective.

Husband and Wife

A married person living with husband and wife can not claim an additional $2,000 exemption as the head of a family. His or her exemption is based upon the marital status, irrespective of the support of others living in the same household. The additional $200 credit for dependants does not apply to the husband or wife of a taxpayer. For example, if a married man supports a father who is incapable of self-support, he is entitled to the $200 credit for such person. If through force of circumstances he supports his wife away from home he is entitled to the $2,000 exemption allowed a married person, but not to a $200 credit for a dependent.

A son who has left home but who sends his mother more than one-half the sum required for her support is entitled to the $200 credit, provided the mother can not support herself. Otherwise, the amount must be considered as a gift, and therefore, the credit is not allowed. A son living at home and supporting his father, mother, or other relative may claim the $2,000 exemption allowed the head of a family, but not the $200 credit unless such relative is under 18 years of age or incapable of self-support.

JAIL WITHOUT TRIAL

MILITIA OFFICER INTENDED TO IMPRISON EDITOR

(Newspaper Enterprise Association.)

HOUSTON, Tex., Jan. 20.—Colonel Billie Mayfield intended to put G. V.
Sanders, editor of the Houston Press in prison and keep him there without trial during martial law in Galveston according to Mayfield's answer to Sanders' suit for $25,000 damages.

Mayfield ordered the arrest of Sanders Aug. 30, 1920, following criticism in the Press of martial law at Galveston and the conduct of National Guard officers.

Officers sought to arrest Sanders at the Houston Country club, 50 miles from the martial law zone—Sanders escaped.

Sanders' suit aims to uphold the constitutional rights of free speech and free press.

Mayfield denies that malice prompted the arrest but recites that "even if the defendants did not have a lawful right to arrest Sanders, they did have a right to protect themselves from the vicious and cowardly attacks of Sanders against them."

C. M. Cyerton, attorney general of Texas, represents Mayfield.

PORT ORANGE

Owing to the indisposition of Rev.
H. G. Fithian and the low temperature of Brown Hall, no preaching services were held last Sunday. Sunday school was held at usual. The usual services were announced for next Sunday.

The burial services of the late D.
W. Winn were held from his late residence on Tuesday afternoon. The body has been placed in the Baggett-Wetherby vault until it is taken to his old family burial grounds in Illinois in the spring for interment.

The Port Orange Telephone company have about finished fixing their lines and have the switch board installed in the Halifax Mercantile store and long distance connections will soon be in effect.

O. H. Doty, milkman is very enthusiastic in his praise of Japanese cane, for a forage plant, as it yields very large quantities of valuable feed for cattle, and when fed milk cows they give large quantities of milk. With the cane and other forage crops that do well in this section, the drainage of the hammock will revolutionize this section of the Halifax country, as dairy products and cattle can then be profitably produced on a large scale.

A meeting is expected to be held soon for the Port Orange branch of the American Red Cross to decide whether a part of the funds on hand shall be given for the relief of the starving in the Near East. And also what disposition shall be made of the balance of the funds, and whether it is advisable to continue an organization of the branch at this time. Time and place of the meeting to be announced later.

Mrs. T. T. Coleman gave a very interesting lecture Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock at Grace Guild Hall on American government. She dwelt at some length on the manner of election, duties, qualifications, terms of office of members of congress; how bills are introduced and carried thru, arrest and impeachment of members, immigrations bills, etc.

The next lecture will treat of state and municipal governments. The lecture was well received and listened to with careful attention. These lectures are free to any who are interested. For those who wish to make a more thorough study of the subjects a charge of 25 cents is made for the bulletins giving the plan of study and suggestive questions, and a share in the cost of the books, the latter to be apportioned according to the number using them. Much depends upon the success of the first classes, as by this success will be measured the interest of our club women in general extension work and future opportunity through this channel will be offered in proportion to the interest and enthusiasm with which the first extensive effort is received. The next lecture will be at Ridgewood Hall next Tuesday, the 25th at 10 a. m. and all are cordially invited to be present.

Bond Issue of Not Less Than $15,000 Necessary to Float Expenses in Daytona Beach

According to the present financial condition of Daytona Beach, as stated by Mayor R. E. Niven, Clerk R. L. Selden, Councilman C. L. Vining and others, at the regular meeting of the council Wednesday night, postponed from Monday evening, it will be necessary to vote a bond issue of not less than $15,000 at the next election.

In order to prepare for the voters to pass upon this matter at the next election, it will be necessary to give notice that such action is contemplated not later than Monday evening, January 21, the time of the next regular council meeting.

Mayor Niven said that according to the investigation he had been able to make, the financial condition of the town is in bad shape and that, in his opinion, not less than $10,000 would be needed to carry the expenses through the next year. He said the tax money, amounting to about $25,000, which was to provide for 1921, was pretty well gone now and the year only just begun. He said the street improvements and the new water softening plant and practically all improvements that had been made had cost considerable more than the engineers had estimated and that consequently the various funds were deficient.

Clerk Selden said that he had casually gone over the figures and looked up the conditions and he thought that it would take at least $15,000 to bridge the city over for another year and put the council in comfortable working shape. It was the consensus of opinion among the councilmen, except President Bleekman, that preparation should be made at once to get permission from the people to issue bonds. They expressed the opinion that if a detailed statement was presented to the public showing exactly how the money had been spent and the facts were properly presented to the taxpayers that such a bond issue would carry.

President Bleekman, however, thought there could be some way arranged to pull through without it. He thought there would be considerable income from the water plant under the new prices and that this would help some.

Clerk Selden was requested to go over the public books carefully and report all of the necessary facts and figures at the next regular meeting, so that if necessary notice of bond issue proposed can be given at that time.

Concession Matters Aired
All of the members of the council and Mayor Niven were present when President Bleekman called the session to order. It was not long until a hot hornet's nest was exposed. Samuel Pickett, the New Yorker who is running the little concessions down on the beach days, nights and Sundays appeared and said he wanted to know where he was at, and that he understood that there were objections being made to his running on Sunday. He said it had cost him $500 to get ready to do business, and that his expenses were $90 per week beside his moving picture operator, and that it was necessary for him to do all the business he could in order to keep going. He seemed to think that his keeping agency was a necessity to the interests of the town. He took the position that his games of chance were all fair ones and that he was doing a legitimate business. He made no reference whatever to his hoop game, where a boy could throw the hoop over a clock or some other article a thousand times and never get a thing, nor anything about his signs that no one under 16 years old would be allowed to take part in the games of chance, while a dozen or more children, who would not be 16 for several years, were handing in their pennies and taking their chances, which were mighty slim, right under the sign.

Councilman Barbe stood right up and frankly told Mr. Pickett that he was running a gambling game; that he had a lot of little children about his place and was taking their money and was running wide open on Sunday, and that he was in favor of shutting up his place unless he would keep the children away and close on Sunday.

Mayor Niven could see no difference between running this kind of a joint and the electric lights being allowed to be turned on, airplanes to fly, drug stores to be open, punch boards to run or any other business on Sunday. He frankly admitted he did not know what kind of a place the man was running, but thought everyone should be treated alike.

Councilman Vining did not believe in the enforcement of any blue laws, said he liked to hunt, himself, on Sunday, and believed in sports on Sunday, as there were different classes of people to be entertained, and everybody did not want to go to church.

Councilman Tracey was of the same opinion; he seemed to be in favor of a wide open town, and believed that games of chance and that sort of thing had made Coney Island and Atlantic City wonderful cities.

Should Respect Sabbath
U. S. Shelly, who was present, said he was not a crank and did not believe in the enforcement of blue laws, but he did believe in some respect being shown the Sabbath day and the good people who observe it. He said that by catering to the riff raff and the sports would surely kill the town and that it would drive away the better element that had seen fit to come here. Mr. Shelly spoke as a good citizen, standing for decency, and appeared to have a real interest in the welfare of the city.

C. A. Randall, who happened to be present on other business, spoke on similar lines to Mr. Shelly. He said he hated to see the bars thrown down to games of chance, in which there was no benefit to the city or any one else, except to the parties running them. He asked that the council postpone action on the matter until the next meeting, when he predicted there would be at least 300 good citizens there to protest against the outrageous use of the beach, now being permitted.

Councilman Bradley then introduced a resolution which provided that at no time should children under 16 years old be permitted to take part in games of chance and that they should be prohibited from running on Sunday. Upon roll call Messrs. Barbe and Brady voted "yes," while Messrs. Vining and Tracey declined to vote, and President Bleekman said he did not wish to vote unless he had to. Clerk Selden ruled that he did not have to, as the two "aye" votes were sufficient to carry the resolution, as they were a majority of those voting and the votes of a majority of the members were not required.

Display signs, warning people against encroaching on the beach landing space, accorded airplanes, were ordered made and erected under the direction of Councilman Bradley and Aviators Stantos, Lindsey and Merrill, the cost to be divided between the city and the aviators.

Landing Signs Ordered
Complaints from Mrs. A. S. Houron and others, bitterly complaining of the terrible odors from the Main street sewers and chiming guests were leaving her house because of it, was considered at some length. It was finally decided that Clerk Selden should take the matter up with the State Board of Health and learn what, if any, relief could be granted. It conceded there were good grounds for the complaints.

Councilman Tracey was given authority to take the matter of the refusal to furnish gas and light to Elizabeth Newell up with the Public Service company and report results.

Clerk Selden was requested to take up the matter of the big oil truck, running on Main street, with E. L. Potter of the Clarendon hotel and see if it could not take a different route in going to and from Daytona. There is an ordinance preventing such trucks running at a greater speed than five miles an hour, while the weight and width of tires are limited.

E. B. Parker presented a bill for $52 for supervising construction work, which resulted in hot words between him and Councilman Tracey, the latter claiming he was not on the job and had turned it over to William Petersohn. The matter was postponed until the return of H. E. Pence, who Mr. Vining said knew all about the matter.

When a bill to pay for the new croquet balls at the playgrounds was presented Councilman Tracey violently opposed the payment, taking the position that the tourists were asking altogether too much and that there was no use in catering to them in any such manner, as they would all come back anyhow. President Bleekman had ordered the balls and the bill was ordered paid.

Clerk Selden was directed to get in touch with Engineer George A. Main and authorize him to make an inspection of the water plant and to report what, if anything, can be done to increase the efficiency of the machinery and equipment and to minimize the cost.

It was decided to settle the water bill of E. A. Griswold at 313 Halifax avenue of $49.59 on a fifty-fifty basis, because some one had turned his water on while he was absent in the North and allowed it to run all summer, through no mistake of his.

George A. Parker, tax collector, submitted the following report:

Dr. J. L. McBrien Outlines the Better Rural School Program, of U. S. Bureau of Education

In opening the International Federal and Interstate Conference on Rural Education and Country Life, held at the Auditorium, Daytona Beach-Seabreeze, Thursday night, Dr. J. L. McBrien spoke in part as follows:

Ladies and Gentlemen: We are here tonight in the interest of rural education and country life upon the invitations of Governor Hardee and your state superintendent of public instruction, the Hon. W. N. Shoats. Permit me to call your attention briefly to the program of the United States Bureau of Education in its nationwide campaign for better rural schools. It is as follows:

1. A minimum school term of not less than one hundred and sixty days.
2. A sufficient number of teachers adequately prepared for their work.
3. The consolidation of rural schools where practicable, and where impracticable to make the one-teacher school the best it is possible to make it by placing therein an adequately prepared teacher.
4. The teachers' home and the demonstration farm of five or more acres as the property of the school and as an illustration for the community in better home-making and in better farming.

5. An all-year session of school adapted to local conditions—school-home projects similar to the work which Superintendent E. J. Tobin has carried to such a signal success in rural Cook county, Illinois.
6. Community organization with the public school building as a social and civic center.

7. Free country public libraries similar to the California plan.
8. A high school education for country boys and girls that will allow them to secure such education without breaking home ties.
9. Such readjustment and reformation of the course of study in elementary and secondary rural schools as will adapt them to the lives of the people they are to serve.

10. The elimination of illiteracy.
11. Better civic and patriotic instruction so as to make true Americans of all who live under the Stars and Stripes.
12. The conservation of rural health.
13. Good roads as related to better rural schools and the improvement of country life.

14. The needs of the farm women.
15. Federal aid in co-operation with the states in carrying out the foregoing program to its ultimate success.

A review of rural school conditions in the United States may serve to give you a better understanding of the bureau's program for their improvement. In funds, in per capita expenditure, in length of term, in equipment, in buildings and grounds, in administration and supervision, in courses of study, in text books, in efficiency of the teaching force, in salaries paid, and in everything required for a first class school, town and city schools are so far above rural schools as to make the situation in many sections of the country deplorable. The condition has been so desperate during the past 25 years, when the meagre opportunities of pupils in rural schools have been contrasted to the adequate provisions made for pupils in city schools, that it has driven hundreds of thousands of farmers from the country to the city for the sole purpose of giving their children equal educational opportunities with the children of their more fortunate city neighbors. This is the reason given more often than any other by fathers and mothers for moving from country to city. And shall we blame them? There awakes in every honest parent's heart at his first babe's first cry the noble wish to give his child a better bringing up than he himself has had. And so Secretary Lane has well said: "An ambitious will go where education can be given to their children." The elementary school course, at large, country boys and girls are provided with days of school less each year than city boys and girls. This means that farm boys and girls have over three hundred days less education in their elementary course than do city boys and girls. When it comes to high education the discrimination against farm boys and girls is even more marked. In many sections of the country the school term is less than one year for millions of boys and girls, and in some rural school districts the school term is so short that the attendance is so poor, as to make it unprofitable to the state. Our treatment of farm boys and girls in the matter of their education is a little short of brutal in many cases. But please do not misunderstand me. I have no fight with city boys and girls. I make their schools better if it is in my power. Not less education for city boys and girls, but more for farm boys and girls, is what I want.

McBRIEN OUTLINES BETTER RURAL SCHOOL PLAN OF THE UNITED STATES BUREAU OF EDUCATION

Let me cite a few concrete examples of our general state of rural school conditions. As to inequality in school funds for rural schools, the state of Ohio is a good example, and as it is a native state and as it has a lack of adequate school privilege as a farm boy there: "My father to lead his household into a covered wagon to Nebraska for the sole purpose of having better school privilege for his children. I speak of equality with better education. There is a provision in the constitution of Missouri which provides the maximum tax for rural schools at 65 cents on each $100 worth of property in rural school districts, while in city districts the tax is as high as two and fifty cents school tax on $100 worth of property in city districts. I am sorry to say that in the November election, 1920, the defeated proposition for an amendment on this question of rural school funds was carried. I am in favor of the amendment to the state constitution extending to rural schools the right to levy a school tax as high as one hundred cents on the value of property in rural school districts, as the maximum tax in the old provision of the constitution of Missouri, of the November election, 1920, adopted an education tax to the state constitution for the old maximum school tax in rural districts the minimum school tax under the new amendment, and the maximum school tax in rural districts at one hundred and fifty cents on each $100 worth of property in rural districts. Thus the obstacle to educational progress in rural schools gradually being removed.

Missouri is not the only state that has shined against farm boys and girls in the matter of the education of their children. Take the question of length of the school term in Ohio. This state has 149 rural schools with a school term of 100 days or less; 1,339 rural schools with a school term of 120 days or less; 1,663 rural schools with a school term of 140 days or less; 93 rural schools in this state have an annual school term of 180 days. Eighty per cent of the rural schools of Indiana have a school term of seven months or less. The average school year in Ohio is 134 days. The average in Ohio is 130. The city child in Ohio receives 44 days more school during each school year than the country child. In other words, the city child receives 362 days more schooling during the elementary school course of eight years than does the country child in that state during the same time. Is this a square deal?

Texas 60 per cent of the country teachers have only an elementary education, that is, a seventh grade education in that state. The state superintendent of public instruction in Texas in an official publication declares that 90 per cent of the country teachers in Texas are mere children.

In one Missouri, Indiana and Ohio, however, to say that state drives are now being waged against these states for better schools, and we have faith enough in people to believe that when they understand these inequalities in educational opportunity as now provided country boys and girls, in comparison with city boys and girls, that people will atone for this discrimination.

Time would permit, I could go on in the full call of states, and the school conditions thus revealed in every state of the union would be appalling. President Coffman of the University of Minnesota declares that the rural school situation in the United States is a tragedy. Dr. Bagley of Teachers' college, Columbia university, maintains that the greatest problem in American education is the rural school problem. He says that it is more than this, it is the fundamental problem in American education. He views the situation. My work is optimism rather than pessimism, but after studying rural school conditions in every state of the union during the past seven years I am forced to believe that President Coffman and Dr. Bagley are right in their conclusions on this question.

In an effort to help the various states secure the best qualified teachers possible for rural schools, practically every member of the rural division has lectured before state teachers' associations, school officers, conventions, at state normal schools and educational conferences throughout the country. Some members of the rural division have visited every state in the union in this phase of the work. Probably the most constructive and far-reaching work in the field of rural education, a state-wide school survey, that has been made under the direction of the bureau of education in the states of Arizona, Alabama, Colorado, Delaware, South Dakota, Tennessee, Washington and Wyoming. Several county surveys of rural school conditions have also been made in a number of states. The purpose of the surveys is, without favor or prejudice, to reveal the actual conditions existing and to make suggestions for their improvement. In short, to point out the possible and practical ideals to which the state or county should aspire in the improvement of its rural schools.

It would take an hour and a half's discussion for each problem in our program in order to do the subject justice. Time will not permit of such an extended discussion. Probably the three greatest problems in our program for better rural schools are:

1. The school term;
2. The teacher; and
3. Rural school consolidation.

I have already discussed the school term and have made some reference to the lack of professionally trained teachers in the rural schools, with mention of one of our conferences that devoted its entire session to consolidation.

Rural Educational Conference Opens at Auditorium; Notable Assemblage, Many Educators

It was an appreciative and interested audience that attended both the Thursday evening and Friday morning sessions of the National Rural Educational Conference at the Auditorium, when more than 200 noted educators of America, and several foreign countries, gathered in session for a discussion of the betterment of rural education.

Dr. J. L. McBrien, of the Bureau of Education, Washington, D. C., presided at the sessions, the musical program, which was a big feature of the program, being in charge of James Heaton of the Florida Assembly and Forum.

Those taking a most active part in the program included Dr. McBrien, R. S. Holmes, Dr. H. R. Bonner, of Washington; Supt. W. N. Sheats, of Tallahassee; Miss Margaret M. Street, of Camden, N. J.; Dr. R. M. Shoppard, of Tallahassee; Dr. J. E. Swearingen, superintendent of public instruction of South Carolina; Supt. A. E. Akens, of North Carolina; Miss Florence Stubbs, of Virginia; Supt. C. R. M. Shoppard, of Volusia county schools; Mrs. Elmore Richards, of Hamilton, Ont., and other noted educators.

The sessions this afternoon are being held at the school auditorium in Seabreeze. The last meeting of the conference will be held Saturday morning at the Auditorium.

RIDGEWOOD HOTEL

Simon Pliska of Burlington, Vt., has recently been spending a few days with his friend, Col. E. P. Woodbury, of the Ridgewood in Daytona. Burlington is Mr. Woodbury's home city, and he and Mr. Pliska are pals and friends of many years.

Mr. Pliska was on business and pleasure trip combined and this was his first visit to Florida, and among the many new experiences which he enjoyed while in Daytona was a trip in an aeroplane with Bill Lindley of the Rife Flying School at Daytona Beach. Mr. Pliska enjoyed the trip hugely and felt that he was with one of the safest and best qualified aviators in the country. When he went home he told Mrs. Pliska that he had been up in the air, expecting that she would at least experience a second hand thrill, but in writing Mr. Woodbury about it he said that she calmly remarked: "To my positive knowledge you have been 'up in the air' a good many times."

Mr. Pliska made an extensive trip through Florida, visiting all the famous resort cities, but says that the Triple Cities exceed them all in climate and ideal surroundings. NEW HELICOPTER SOON TO BE TRIED (International News Service.)

LONDON, Jan. 19.—Louis Brennan, the inventor of the monorail gyroscopic train, who has been experimenting for more than a year on a helicopter at an aerodrome near London, is shortly to have his experiment officially tested.

A helicopter is a heavier-than-air machine which it is claimed will be able to ascend and descend vertically, or nearly so, without putting its nose up or down, and will also be able to hover while in flight.

It is understood that not only has the British government financed Mr. Brennan's helicopter experiments but has also offered him an unprecedented reward if his invention proves successful.
